"At the Last."

The following poem appeared, originally in

The attents is calmost when it nears the tide,
And flowers are sweeters at the eventide,
And birds most musical at vices of day,
And saints civinest when they pass away.

ng is lovely, but a holier charm as folded close in the evenils g's robes of balm ad weary man must ever love her best,

A holy fragrance, like the breath of prayer, Feetsteps of angels follow in her trace, To shut the weary eyes of day in peace.

All things are hushed before, as she throws O'er earth and sky her mantle of repose; e is a caim, a beauty and a power

That morning knows not, in the evening hour " Until the evening" we must weep and toil, Plough life's stern farrow, dig the weedy soil, ed with light feet the rough and therny way, And bear the heat and burden of the day.

Oh! when our sun is setting, we may glide Like summer evening down the golden tide; And leave behind us as we pass away,

At the time of the breaking out of the rebellion, Mr. Robinson, was a firm be liever in the Breckinridge doctrine that Another letter from a Democratic Soldier.

We are permitted to copy the following extracts from a private letter received by John Jenkins, from F. M. Robinson, of Pokagon, in this county. Mr. Robinson is a son of Mitchel Robinson, eaq., and as most of our readers are aware, has been a Democrat all his life.

liever in the Breckinridge doctrine that a State had a right under the Constitution to secede, and that the Government had no power to coerce a State to remain in the Union. Now it will be perceived, he not only believes it the duty of the Government to put down the rebellion, even if in doing so it were necessary to exterminate every traitor North and South, but to accomplish this, he is perfectly willing to use every means in his power. We ask for his letter a careful perusal:

When I look about me and see the the suffering brought to our homes by this accursed rebellion, I am constrain ed to say, "O, Lord, when will this war cease." But with hundreds of thousands others, I would not have it cease until it can do so through an honorable peace from our own dictation. Beauty and Glory—shall wave in triumph over every foot of soil from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico; and I am for using every means which God has placed in our power to crush out the vile monster, even if in so doing every rebel in the Southern Confederacy has to be exterminated and every traitor in the North hung!

Live or die, sink or swim, survive or perish, I am for the Union—the Union, one and undivided. I am for the Government as it is administered. Lincoln and Davis are the representatives of the two great powers that are at war; and my position is, that no man can be neutral at this time, neither can be serve both Governments, either he will hate the one and love the other; or, he will hold to the one and despise the other; there is no half way between to stand upon.

Our duty is to save the Union, and those who prate about State rights, and the rights of "our southern brethren" but have no words of cheer for Federal soldiers who are pouring out their blood to save these very men from all the horrors of anarchy, are base, sucaking cowards, and do not deserve to be shot. They have not one breath of pure patriotism in their rotten earcasses.

Every consideration which man holds dear, commands us to stand by our country in this hour of her trial. Could the voices of our illustrious Fathers of the Revolution, be heard from heaven, they would ring in our ears the words—"stand by the country, Lincoln and the Government, until telast foe is conquered," and this shall be the language of your humble servant untillife shall be no more.
